The project aims to promote Georgia's further integration with the European Union through extensive public participation and cooperation; the strengthening of democracy and freedom of expression; the empowerment of civil society, youth, media, business, as well as legal support for local activists; the initiation of high-quality research and public dialogue; and the raising of awareness of Georgian society and the international community.

Expected results:

OP2: CSOs, BSOs, academia, think tanks and independent media are united in a strong network and play an active role in the EU integration process;

OP3: Participation of wider public, in particular youth and less represented groups, in the EU integration process is enhanced.
